Planned by the American architect William W. Amick and from the architect Italian George Ferraris, the building run of Bariato is of 18 holes par 72, measure 5807 meter. A putting green next to the tee of the hole 1 and a field practice endowed with permanent illumination they complete the structures of practice and game. The field practice slightly outdistanced by the Club House can almost be managed as a different entity, allowing the entry the beginners without they immediately has to become partners of the whole circle. The run is very various and forces the players to use all the irons that have in the knapsack Also the obstacles of sand and the lakes are positioned in strategic way and I always vary. One of the elements that it characterizes this run are an almost constant wind from east and sometimes strong from north. Under conditions of wind the run can stimulate and to try also the most experienced players.

The hole 1, par 4, give immediately the welcome one to the players with his/her 385 meters, but immediately later, two holes par 4 more court and accessible, they allow to take confidence with the run, without serious punishments. To the hole 4 the player has to be very careful to a lake on the right, that however you/he/she won't worry the experienced players that can access the green proper from the right side. The first par 3, meet him to the hole 5. This time a lake is positioned to the left but the access to the green you/he/she is also admitted to the most prudent players. From the backs tees the hole introduces him attractive and stimulating; from the advanced teeses, that some is positioned to the right, it is more pleasant vice versa. The three holes 6, 7, and 8 are par 4, and they complete the external turn in hourly sense of the ground of game. Among these three holes, the more characteristic is the hole 7, of solos 267 meters. It is articulated thanks to the positioning of three bunkers that you/they make the insidious fairways for the one who will want to try to bring a hit of advantage home.

The hole 9, a par 5 from final, it makes the arrival to the extremely interesting Club House: not difficult for the players of middle handicap, it becomes a great deal stimulating for the one that, with lower handicap, he/she will want to attack the result. The seconds 9 holes pretend more from the golfer in terms of length and precision. The player will have to dose his/her energies to face with enough power and precision the 17, par 5 of 520 meters and the 18, par 4 of 395. The hole 10, par 4 of 350 meters, don't offer particular traps, the hole 11, par 5 of 437 meters, allow to contemplate to the green to many players. To the 12 they are begun to warn the new defences of the run, a beautiful par three, a great deal panoramic with an enormous lake to the right. To the 13 the lake is less in game, the 14 par 3 in descent of 183 meters, that introduces not also him with a really ample and accessible green, will ask a very long and precise hit. Hole 15, par 4 of 365 meters in light slope and hole 16 of "alone" 307 meters, but characterized by a side lake that he/she will force many golfers to some prudence. The you already quote 17 and 18 they close indeed the run in magnificent way. The run doesn't offer great gradients, will be pleasant to also play with a light breeze of sea, in how much every hit will be a new hit, light errors won't be punished, but always rewarded the courage and the intuition.
